This is a comprehensive companion to the long coastline which ranges from Spain and the edge of the Pyrenees to the Alpes Maritimes and Italy. It covers the flat country of Languedoc-Roussillon, the coast of the Golfe du Lion, the Rhône delta and the Camargue, the industrial Golfe de Fos, the Côte d'Azur and the French Riviera and Monaco. The island of Corsica and the waterways that run behind the coast linking the Canal du Midi and the étangs to the Rhône are covered in separate chapters. The authors spent the summer and autumn of 2016 cruising in Corsica and then across to the Golfe du Fos where they left Skylax for the winter. During their travels they visited a large number of harbours and anchorages, collecting the latest information and taking new photographs. There are new aerial photos for many places and in particular for ports and harbours in Languedoc - Roussillon. This major 2017 edition contains substantial change to the content. 'A new Mediterranean France pilot from Rod and Lu Heikell is now available from Imray and, needless to say, if you have not got one and plan to cruise this coast and inevitably Corsica, then rush out and buy it!' "Art historian Nicole Dacos, the foremost authority on Raphael's Loggia, has distilled decades of research into the first comprehensive study of this remarkable monument to be published in English. In the first and second parts of her text, she examines the ornaments and the scenes from the Bible, respectively, clarifying their iconography and uncovering their sources in antique and Renaissance art. In the third part, she identifies in the Loggia the hands of Raphael's various collaborators, including not only his well known pupils, like Giulio Romano, Giovanfrancesco Penni, and Giovanni da Udine, but also many other artists, Italian, French, and Spanish, who traveled to Rome to work with the master. Finally, in the fourth part, she traces the enduring legacy of the Loggia: the style of grotesque ornament elaborated by Raphael has been imitated as far afield as the corridors of the United States Capitol, and the Bible scenes were widely circulated in engravings and copied in every medium, from painting to pottery." "The newly commissioned color photographs herein give the reader unprecedented access to the manifold visual splendors of the gallery, which is closed to the public. Also illustrated with an abundance of comparative images, this landmark volume affirms the central importance of Raphael's Loggia to the history of art."--BOOK JACKET.

Tuer quelqu'un, c'est comme braquer une banque. D'abord, tu places poliment une arme sous le nez des employés. Après, tu sors calmement avec l'argent. Puis, tu salues aimablement au passage les gendarmes. Ensuite, tu rentres tranquillement chez toi, sans qu'aucune liasse ne t'explode au visage en maculant ton butin d'un produit indélébile. Puis, tu franchis élégamment la frontière. Enfin, tu profites sereinement de ton butin dans un pays sans accord d'extradition. Simple, non... Assassiner plusieurs personnes reste un peu plus compliqué. Jenny comme Annabella souhaitaient faire passer leurs maris à la trappe, Moira son cousin et Kazuo se libérer de son giri. Quant à moi, cela ne vous regarde pas. Cela constituait un véritable casse-tête. Pas question de renoncer ! Pourtant, avec un seul cheveu, la police scientifique et la médecine médico-légale découvrent le film regardé à la télé trois jours avant et le détail d'un repas pris depuis plusieurs mois. Entre la vidéosurveillance, le bornage téléphonique et l'analyse de notre disque dur, notre vie la plus intime ne possède plus aucun secret. Même sans cadavre ni mode opératoire, nous serons condamnés pour guet-apens et homicide volontaire avec préméditation, en bande organisée. Mobiles ou pas, nous risquons la prison à perpétuité. Pas très sympa ! Avec notre premier invité, il ne restait qu'à trouver le bon mode opératoire, sans pour autant mépriser les plaisirs de la table. Attiré par les femmes, l'alcool et l'argent, il suffisait de le séduire et de monter un boniment sur un prétendu trésor englouti pour l'entraîner dans les abysses de ses mirages. Pas très compliqué ! Attention, il fallait tout envisager surtout l'imprévisible. Un seul petit grain de sable enrayerait cette mécanique parfaitement huilée. Rassurez-vous, nous sommes méthodiques, précautionneux et prudents. Comment ? Je prétends cela pour me rassurer ? C'est fort possible. Bref, nous nous apprêtons à commettre, un premier crime parfait. Les autres viendraient ultérieurement. À PROPOS DE L'AUTEUR Bruno Benattar est né en 1951, il poursuit des études de sciences économiques et de sociologie. Fortement influencé par les mouvements sociaux de mai 1968, il milite activement dans des mouvements pacifistes, non marxistes et non violents, tout en pratiquant les arts martiaux, et ce, encore aujourd'hui. Refusant de s'intégrer dans la vie professionnelle, il visite le monde et exerce les métiers de moniteur de voile et de plongée bouteille. Dictionnaire universel de géographie maritime Psychology Press "Are they really Muslims?" Islam in China reveals the struggle for identity of the small yet vital Muslim community of China, a little studied minority on the fringes of the Islamic world now thrust into the spotlight by the opening of China to the world and the rise of independent Muslim republics on China's western borders. Both timely and important, the multifaceted essays--- collection of over twenty years of Raphael Israeli's scholarship on Chinese Muslims--offer detailed insight into the relationship between China's non-Muslim majority and an increasingly self-confident guest culture. The work uncovers a history of uneasy ethnic, philosophical, and ideological coexistence, the gradual sinification of the Chinese Muslim creed, and the increasing accommodation of Islam by a modern, westernizing China. In addition, it highlights a religious group riddled with sectarianism; factional rifts that reveal the doctrinal, social, and political diversity at the core of Chinese Islam.

A Sanctuary of Their Own Walter de Gruyter GmbH & Co KG

The volume discusses the world as it was known in the Medieval and Early Modern periods, focusing on projects concerned with mapping as a conceptual and artistic practice, with visual representations of space, and with destinations of real and fictive travel. Maps were often taken as straightforward, objective configurations. However, they expose deeply subjective frameworks with social, political, and economic significance. Travel narratives, whether illustrated or not, can address similar frameworks. Whereas travelled space is often adventurous, and speaking of hardship, strange encounters and danger, city portraits tell a tale of civilized life and civic pride. The book seeks to address the multiple ways in which maps and travel literature conceive of the world, communicate a 'Weltbild', depict space, and/or define knowledge. The volume challenges academic boundaries in the study of cartography by exploring the links between mapmaking and artistic practices. The contributions discuss individual mapmakers, authors of travelogues, mapmaking as an artistic practice, the relationship between travel literature and mapmaking, illustration in travel literature, and imagination in depictions of newly explored worlds.

What is at stake in compromising the Enlightenment ideals of a liberal education with new educational policies engendered by a neo-liberalized, global marketplace? Richly grounding his arguments in the social philosophy of European and American intellectuals, Raphael Sassower explores Western culture's long-standing ambivalence toward 'the life of the mind.' He shows how and why this historical legacy contributes to today's confusion over goals and values in contemporary education. He sheds new light on many of today's controversies, showing why the demands of technology and a global economy increase society's need for 'educational sanctuaries' of liberal education, intellectual 'play' and social consciousness that may better serve the diverse and often conflicting needs of a changing world.
