The Behavior of the Laboratory Rat Alexander Ortiz Ocaña
"This book will last and last, because it contains the wisdom of two wonderfully knowing observers of our human destiny."—Robert Coles For decades Erik H. Erikson's concept of the stages of human development has deeply influenced the field of contemporary psychology. Here, with new material by Joan M. Erikson, is an expanded edition of his final work. The Life Cycle Completed eloquently closes the circle of Erikson's theories, outlining the unique rewards and challenges—for both individuals and society—of very old age.

Relación entre inteligencia emocional y rendimiento académico en adolescentes dentro de un centro educativo de excelencia en Sao Paulo McGraw-Hill Humanities, Social Sciences & World Languages

To a small child, the world is an exciting but sometimes frightening and unstable place. In The Magic Years, Selma Fraiberg takes the reader into the mind of the child, showing how he confronts the world and learns to cope with it. With great warmth and perception, she discusses the problems at each stage of development and reveals the qualities—above all, the quality of understanding—that can provide the right answer at critical moments. Scholars and policymakers increasingly call for evidence-based, prevention-oriented, and community-driven approaches to improve public health and reduce youth crime, substance use, and related problems. However, few functional models exist. In Communities that Care, four leading experts on prevention describe one such system to illustrate how communities effectively engage in prevention activities. Communities That Care (CTC) is a coalition-based prevention system implemented successfully in dozens of communities across the world that promotes healthy development and reduces crime rates for youth. Drawing on literature from criminology, community psychology, and prevention science this book describes the conditions and actions necessary for effective community-based prevention. The authors illustrate how effective community-based prevention can be undertaken by describing how the CTC prevention system has been developed, implemented, evaluated, and disseminated across the U.S. and internationally.

Communities that Care shares invaluable lessons about the implementation and evaluation of community-level interventions and establishes a set of best practices for anyone seeking to engage in and/or evaluate effective prevention efforts.

This study builds upon the belief that a human being is a manifold between being who acts, feels, and thinks. No one account about human development, whether behavioral, psychodynamic, or cognitive, can fully explain human development. This book is written with the conviction that study, research, and actual work with children or youth should build upon that which is already known.

The great Russian psychologist L. S. Vygotsky has long been recognized as a pioneer in developmental psychology. But his theory of development has never been well understood in the West. Mind in Society corrects much of this misunderstanding. Carefully edited by a group of outstanding Vygotsky scholars, the book presents a unique selection of Vygotsky's important essays. Creating Minds Oxford University Press

Tesis doctoral producto de una investigación educativa original, realizada entre 2017-2020, sobre la posible vinculación entre Inteligencia Emocional y Rendimiento Académico dentro del contexto educativo brasileño, con el fin de aportar evidencias sobre la pertinencia de enfatizar en la educación emocional en las aulas. Estructurada en seis capítulos, en los dos primeros se hace un repaso teórico entorno a las dos variables: Inteligencia Emocional y Rendimiento Académico. En el tercero se contextualiza del Sistema Educativo en Brasil específicamente, de la escuela donde se desarrolla la investigación y de los individuos foco, los adolescentes. Bajo este marco teórico se justifica el cuarto capítulo conformado por el estudio empírico, el quinto capítulo expone los resultados que evidencian la necesidad de desarrollo de este tipo de competencias entre los adolescentes, incidiendo en la atención emocional como la dimensión básica a potenciar en la muestra y la necesidad de adaptar las pruebas de evaluación al contexto brasileño. Es el último capítulo, asociado a la discusión y conclusiones, encontramos un debate en torno a la necesidad de seguir investigando en la misma línea, incluyendo otros instrumentos que vayan más allá de las medidas de autoinforme y líneas futuras de investigación utilizando análisis cualitativos.

After trekking in Nepal, Sally Wendkos Olds and Margaret Roche both fell in love with this mountainous Himalayan country and her people. They returned four times between 1993 and 1998 and spent time in Bedel, a remote hill village without electricity, telephone or roads. They helped establish a library there, and on each visit Olds, a writer, and Roche, an artist, were welcomed enthusiastically as "our relatives." Each time they came to Badel, they returned home with questions about their own lives. Here, in words and pictures, is their story of the Badel villagers and their fast disappearing ancient way of life.

If you had just one wish for the study of human development, what would it be? How would it advance the field? And what would it take for your vision to be realized? This was the charge given to twenty-eight scholars, coming from different disciplines and fields, and who study different periods of the life course. This book compiles provocative contributions from a wide range of established scholars, organized into seven thematic areas: conceptual advances; systems, levels, and contexts; individual differences; methodological advances; harnessing science for human welfare and social justice; underexplored life course dynamics; and interdisciplinary collaboration and playing well with others. This book was originally published as a special issue of Research in Human Development.

By the winner of the 1988 Nobel Prize in Economics, an essential and paradigm-altering framework for understanding economic development--for both rich and poor--in the twenty-first century. Freedom, Sen argues, is both the end and most efficient means of sustaining economic life and the key to securing the general welfare of the world's entire population. Releasing the idea of individual freedom from association with any particular historical, intellectual, political, or religious tradition, Sen clearly demonstrates its current applicability and possibilities. In the new global economy, where, despite unprecedented increases in overall opulence, the contemporary world denies elementary freedoms to vast numbers--perhaps even the majority of people--he concludes, it is still possible to practically and optimistically restrain a sense of social accountability. Development as Freedom is essential reading.

Both seasoned and beginning investigators will be amazed at the range and complexity of rat behavior as described in the 43 chapters of this volume. The behavioral descriptions are closely tied to the laboratory methods from which they were derived, thus allowing the investigator to exploit both the behavior and the methods for their own research. It will also serve as an indispensable reference for other neuroscientists, psychologist, pharmacologists, geneticists, molecular biologists, zoologists, and their students and trainees.

Este libro ofrece información sobre los principales contextos de intervención psicoeducativa en la infancia y adolescencia, como son la familia, la escuela y la comunidad. Aporta datos de interés para los profesionales y educadores en su labor de trabajo psicológico y educativo con menores, familias, profesores y futuros docentes. Los autores hablan de educación, de prevención y de intervención con el propósito último de ofrecer respuestas y datos sobre cómo desenvolverse en ciertas situaciones que requieren de una intervención psicoeducativa. El garante de la información ofrecida es que todos los autores y autoras son expertos, doctores y formadores en psicología, que ejercen su labor docente y profesional en distintas universidades españolas. Pertenecen, además, al Grupo Lisis de investigación (www.uv.es/lisis), que trabaja en el ámbito de la niñez y la adolescencia, con el objetivo de prevenir, intervenir y, eventualmente, mejorar la calidad de vida en las familias y las escuelas.

The noted economist and philosopher Amartya Sen argues that the dictum "all people are created equal" serves largely to deflect attention from the fact that we differ in age, gender, talents, and physical abilities as well as in material advantages and social background. He argues for concentrating on higher and more basic values: individual capabilities and freedom to achieve objectives. By concentrating on the equity and efficiency of social arrangements in promoting freedoms and capabilities of individuals, Sen adds an important new angle to arguments about such vital issues as gender inequalities, welfare policies, affirmative action, and public provision of health care and education.
